Supporting letters may be sent to NJ-ACS MSDG Director of Awards and must be received by December 1, 2011.

Criteria:

The Award recognizes a person who lives in the greater New Jersey region (NJ, NY, CT, PA and DE) and has shown exceptional potential for leadership at the frontiers of mass spectrometry (MS) early in his or her research career (within 10 years from completion of graduate degree). The person nominated should have made distinct scientific contributions to the field of mass spectrometry through fundamental or applied research. The nominee also must have been professionally active in the field of mass spectrometry over several years as exhibited by one or more of the following activities:

- Membership in ASMS, ISMS or ACS
- Oral or poster presenter at ASMS meetings
- Chairperson of an MS-related symposium at a regional, national or international meeting
- Officer in the ASMS, NJ-ACS MSDG or other MS-focused associations
- Author on scientific publications that have MS in the title or that use MS for a significant part of the described work
- Reviewer of manuscripts for JMS, IJMS, JASMS or other MS-related publications
- Invited speaker for talks that have MS in the title or that use MS for a significant part of the described work

Nominees will be rated on their scientific achievements in the area of MS (50%) and on their professional contributions (as outlined above) to the field of MS (50%). Eligibility is not restricted to current members of the NJ-ACS MSDG mailing list. The award decision will be made by the officers of the NJ-ACS MSDG. The current officers of the NJ-ACS MSDG are not eligible for the award. The award will be announced at the NJ-ACS MSDG February 2012 meeting with the presentation of a $1,000 cash award and a recognition plaque. Nominations will not be returned.

To submit a nomination, complete page 1 of this form and attach the following:

1. A short description of scientific contributions (1-2 paragraphs) made by the nominee and the nominee's professional activities;
2. A list of the nominee's publications pertaining to this award; or
3. A copy of the nominee's CV if it is a good summary of the person's scientific achievements and professional activities in the area of MS.

Send completed nomination form and attachments to the NJ-ACS MSDG Director of Awards for receipt by December 1, 2011 to:
